

Harrison Public Library
3D Printer Agreement

Having read and understood the terms of the Harrison Public Library’s 3D Printer Policy, I agree to fully abide by such Policy.

I agree that any design I submit to the Library for 3D printing will not violate any laws, intellectual property rights, trademarks, licensing agreements, and/or patent restrictions; and that if it is determined that such design and/or object does violate any laws, intellectual property rights, trademarks, licensing agreements, and/or patent restrictions, I am solely responsible for any resulting damages, judgments, and/or fines.

Further, I agree that any and all 3D objects printed for me by the Library will be strictly for lawful purposes and will present no danger to myself or others.

Further, by submitting content or objects for printing, I agree to assume all responsibility for such and shall hold the Harrison Public Library, its staff and its trustees, and the Town/Village of Harrison harmless in all matters including but not limited to matters related to patented, trademarked, or copyrighted materials.

Finally, I understand that the Harrison Public Library, its staff and its trustees, and the Town/Village of Harrison are not responsible for any injuries or damage caused by any 3D objects printed for me at the Library; or for any damage, loss, or security of data arising from the use of its computers or network; or for the functionality or quality of object(s) produced on the 3D printer. I understand that the Library does not guarantee that any print request will be completed exactly as designed as there may be errors in the printing process or objects may fail to print fully.
